

What is emergency contraception?

An emergency contraceptive can help prevent pregnancy after contraceptive failure, unprotected sex, or sexual assault. Plan B® and ella® are not RU-486 or Mifeprex® (the abortion pill); they will not work if you are already pregnant.

What is Plan B one step?

When taken within 72 hours, Plan B® can substantially reduce the risk of pregnancy.

What is ella?

ella® is an emergency contraceptive that is FDA approved for use up to 5 days after unprotected sex or contraceptive failure.

How can I get Plan B® or ella?

You need a doctor's prescription for ella®. Plan B One-Step is now available over-the-counter without a prescription for women of all ages. Generic versions of Plan B One-Step and two-step emergency contraception are available for purchase for individuals 17 and older with an ID from your pharmacist or healthcare clinic. Under South Dakota law, pharmacists may refuse to dispense Plan B® or ella®, so it is recommended that you call ahead to verify availability.

Where can I get Plan B® or ella?

Inside are locations that have indicated that they stock Plan B® or Next Choice® (generic version), but it is recommended that you call first to confirm availability. Pharmacies that stock ella® are marked with a double asterisk () next to the pharmacy's name.

Emergency
Contraception

in South Dakota

Pharmacist refusal laws in South Dakota allow individual pharmacists to determine if their pharmacy will stock and distribute emergency contraception such as Plan B, ella or their generic counterparts. This pamphlet provides a list of pharmacies that do carry emergency contraception so that you can find a pharmacy near you when you need it.
